

Did you know?

The Rhode Island Central Landfill is located in Johnston, RI, only 9 miles away from Brown.

3,800 tons of trash (which is equivalent to 760 elephants) are buried in the landfill each day.

Collected trash at landfills can release carbon dioxide and methane, two major contributors to climate change. When it rains or when any water passes through, landfills also produce leachate liquid, a potential pollutant.
